

Palm Unbreakable Drinkware donation to help women who are homeless

MELBOURNE Thursday, 17 June, 2010: Palm Unbreakable, Australia's only manufacturer of high quality polycarbonate drinkware, has donated glassware to the Sacred Heart Mission in St Kilda for use by women who are helped by the service.

The Palm Unbreakable line of polycarbonate drinkware has fine, glass-like qualities, without the danger associated with glass breakages. The polycarbonate glasses are also dishwasher safe, making them ideal for commercial and home use. Manufactured in Moorabbin, Victoria, the glasses are designed and made to exceedingly high standards. The unbreakable drinkware being donated to the Mission were previously used as showroom display items. They're able to hold both hot and cold liquids and have a non-slip base. "Palm Unbreakable is both a prestige and highly accessible brand of glassware for outdoor use that's also been designed for a specific purpose," says Managing Director Robert Wilson. The Palm Unbreakable Alfresco and Party are designed for commercial use, whilst the Palm Unbreakable Boating and Camping ranges have a non-slip base, making them ideal for use outdoors as well as where small children are present.

"We're delighted to be able to provide a safe, re-usable glass that looks good to an organization that has a reputation for excellence in the provision of basic necessities," added Robert.
